As Guwahati Gana Seva Society (GGSS), the Social Work wing of the Archdiocese of Guwahati is nearing to cross the silver lines next year; it is indeed glad to notice that GGSS is becoming more professional in its development interventions and ever committed to the welfare of the target communities. The recently revised organisational strategy plan for the next five years is really an evidence to prove that it aspires to be an effective organization of the Archdiocese with proper systems and policies to facilitate the community led holistic development of the poor and marginalized.

I am happy that GGSS strives to mobilise people to make community led actions for common problems; be it in the area of health, rural development, education, farming, disaster and so on. Community based structures such as SHGs, Federations, Farmers’ Clubs, Producer Organisations, Youth and Children’s groups that are formed under GGSS in various parts of the operational areas are becoming change makers for themselves and others. GGSS team is very much available with their expert service and experience providing need based handholding support to the targeted communities then and there, resulting in bringing joy and peace in their lives in various forms such as: improved living conditions and increased income for the targeted families; better education and employment for the students and school dropout boys and girls, improved knowledge on health and nutrition and access to various schemes and benefits.

I take this opportunity to appreciate the entire GGSS team- the staff, the consultants and the community volunteers for their valuable services and working in par with the organisation’s Vision and Mission. Let GGSS be able to make more change makers in the communities and introduce and undertake more and more people led sustainable development activities.
Dear Friends,

Guwahati Gana Seva Society (GGSS) is solidly committed to its vision and mission, retaining strong focus in the programs on the principle of preferential option for the poor. All our development interventions are designed in such a way to improve the socio-economic conditions of the people especially the poor and marginalised tribal communities in our area of operation. We are very particular to reach out to the rural tribal villages where many lag in attaining various schemes and benefits.

The last one year has seen visible involvement of people from the interior villages specifically the women and school dropout youth taking initiative to form and run Producer Organisations, Cooperative shops, Tailoring centres, Canteens, Petty shops, Rural agri- marts etc.

GGSS feels proud to be part of the Government's Swatch Bharat Mission Scheme (SBM) resulting in constructing more than 100 individual household latrines. The opportunity provided for the village youth on various vocational trainings is also bringing good results as they start doing meaningful activities to support their families. The promotion of herbal medicine and low cost home based nutritional remedies are reaching the villagers by setting up model herbal gardens and providing trainings on preparation of various herbal remedies.

Let me thank all who have offered us their ongoing support, energy and co-operation to assist our efforts during the year. My special thanks to GGSS Governing and General Body Members, Staff, Consultants, Partners, Volunteers, Donors and other such supporters for the immense contribution to our mission again this year.

Thanks to one and all for supporting GGSS to cross the silver lines in its journey of working for the poor and marginalised people in Assam. We look forward to continue to work to promote Unity, Justice, and Peace; and thus uphold the dignity of everyone.

Fr. Anil Joseph
Director, GGSS

From then onwards with the active support of the Project Team, they initiated various activities to improve the socio-economic conditions of its members and villages. The highlights of the federation's initiatives in the villages are as follows:

It will definitely be done in collaboration with the Natun Jiban SHG Federation. It is the unity and group work of the members which helped to grab such an opportunity to improve their lives as well as other women in their villages.

Way forward:
The 1st Phase of the FARM Northeast is to end by March 2016. It is planned to have the 2nd phase for the project with prior focus on revival of traditional agricultural practices and systems and document them for future reference and also address issues related to livelihood and health of the targeted population through PLDA (People Led Development Approach).
Success Story:

An unutilized running stream is changed to a fishing pond - a model for People Led Action

Teteliguri is a Karbi village under Tetelia Gram Panchayat, Dimoria Block where there are 123 families with the population of 593. Agriculture is the main occupation of the villagers but they also work as daily wage labourers in the nearby tea garden.

The members of the farmers club in the village, promoted under the FARM Project identified a brook that came on their path on the other side of downhill. The brook water running downstream from the hill used to get accumulated in a plain area, and when the water becomes full, it used over flow further downhill. The spot where the water used to get accumulated had a perfect setting to further develop it into a fish pond. Since the plot was kept unutilized, the villagers decided to develop it into a fishery pond by constructing a guard wall just like a dam and store the water.

The members discussed the issues during one of the meetings of the farmers club and then in a village level public meeting in which the Village Committee entrusted the farmers club members to construct the pond with the condition to have equal share and ownership for every family in the village. The village committee insisted that all the families should contribute either in cash/kind towards developing the pond. A Committee was formed to take care of the work. The farmer's club members took the lead role during the entire process of the construction. All the villagers as agreed provided need based support through out. The villagers raised the guard wall up to 9 – 10 feet. The length is around 40 feet and width is 6 feet. Now the guard wall has the capacity to hold enough water and that has increased the size of the pond up to 2 bigha with plenty of fish being cultivated in it. During the current year the villagers could sell fish and get a profit of Rs. 15000/- to Rs. 20000/-. The profit has been kept for further development and maintenance of the pond.

It is the farmers club members initiative that has resulted in changing an unutilized running stream to a useful fishing pond for the villagers. People Led Actions become effective once the decisions are taken for everyone's good and everyone act together.

Success Story on SRI:

Increased production of paddy is possible with less seed, water, and land - A farmer’s testimony

Mr. Ali is a 31 yrs old small holder farmer, hailing from Lahapara village in Tamulpur Block, Baksa District, Assam. He is supporting his family that consists of his wife, one child and his sister and brother. Agriculture is his main source of income and he has been cultivating paddy and seasonal vegetables in 3 bighas of land adjacent to his dwelling. Like most of other farmers in the locality, he also cultivated one time paddy in monsoon season and during winter season cultivated some vegetables. Water scarcity is very much present in the village even though some of the farmers cultivate paddy on a small scale during winter season.

Mr. Ali happened to participate in one of the Focused Group Discussions on SRI conducted by the GGSS team in the village prior to the project implementation. Gaining inspiration from the FGD, he started encouraging and leading the other farmers to become project participants emphasizing the importance of SRI cultivation which is possible during winter season. Along with other 33 farmers, Ali started participating in the trainings and demonstration programmes organized by GGSS, supported by NABARD. He then cultivated paddy in 1 bigha of land through SRI method and the other 2 bigas following traditional method. He really wanted to convince himself that SRI method will bring better yield compared to the traditional one as well as how paddy cultivation is possible using less water.

Like other farmers he also shared doubt whether the single seedling will remain in the field and grow; even then he followed the instructions and applied them time to time from transplantation to the harvesting stages. He was really surprised to see the number of tillers (40-45) that came up from every single seedling in his fields.

During the harvesting he was again surprised to see the production that he could make out of 1 bigha of land, compared to the traditional farming done in 2 bighas of land. He harvested 12.32 Quintal paddy from 1 bigha of land cultivated through SRI method where as he got 9.6 Quintal paddy from 2 bighas of land cultivated in traditional way.

He was very happy sharing the joy of getting the huge production through SRI method, with less input cost and that too from just one bigha of land. This news became viral among the neighbouring farmers making them to come and see the differences. The increase in the yield and income earned by Mr. Ali is encouraging him and other farmers in the village to go for SRI cultivation on a larger scale in the coming years.

Over all, the project implementation on SRI promotion among the 196 rural and marginalised farmers in Baksa District has resulted in creating positive attitude among them towards SRI and its role in addressing the food security and in decreasing the production cost of paddy which is the primary food crop of the country.
